

Team Contract: BoyettEtzler

Project: College Student Dropout Prediction

Team members: Boyett and Etzler

Meeting schedule and location. We will meet every Thursday from noon to 1:30 p.m. and on selected Tuesdays during the same time when additional work is needed. We will confirm the meeting location by text before each meeting. If either partner cannot attend, that partner will notify the other as early as possible and help arrange an alternative time.

Responsibilities across the four milestones. We will share the workload and review each other's contributions before submitting each milestone. The following division is our initial plan, subject to each milestone's requirements:

- Milestone 1: Boyett will lead the problem statement, objective, and proposal writing. Etzler will lead dataset verification, the target distribution figure, and the feature inventory. Both will finalize the proposal and team contract.
- Milestone 2: Boyett will lead data exploration and visualizations. Etzler will lead data preparation and documentation. Both will review findings and modeling decisions.
- Milestone 3: Boyett will lead the initial model implementation. Etzler will lead alternative model development and comparison. Both will evaluate errors and refine the approach.
- Milestone 4: Boyett will lead the final report draft. Etzler will lead preparation of final figures, results, and repository organization. Both will revise the submission and prepare any required presentation.

Communication. We will communicate primarily through text messages and respond within 24 hours. When a deadline is approaching, we will check messages more frequently and communicate any delays promptly. We will confirm task assignments and internal deadlines in writing.

Missed contributions. If one partner misses an agreed deadline or stops contributing, the other will first reach out by text to understand the situation. We will agree on a recovery plan with specific tasks and deadlines and redistribute work when necessary. If there is no response within 48 hours or missed commitments continue, we will document completed and outstanding work and contact the instructor for guidance.

Agreement. By signing below, we agree to communicate respectfully, contribute fairly, and take responsibility for our assigned work.
